EXCELSIOR!

So if we all grow in phases, the young become as old.

Let our future generations, learn from the past in stories told.

We seek to wander higher. Can one pretend they have no fear?

All the answers lie inside us, until the open coast is clear.

All around us is enlightened!

Many clues wake up each day.

Observation is the keyword!

If you want to help you find away!

Is there a method in your madness? Is sanity a game?

Where everybody's different, so the rules aren't quite the same.

Understand what's going on: Excelsior!

Beauty and the beast believe; love can turn to hate!

So don't be late. Natures' first impression rarely hesitates!

Feel love; free the mind!

Relax inside. Let truth unwind: Excelsior.

MA and PA: RENTAL.

When did you both decide that I should come to be?

Here is your choice; with a mind of their own

Wondering why you chose me?

Have you thought about it anyway?

Don't think you have to be inclined!

A feeling can work wonders anyway,

Else it figures you were loving blind!

When all is said and done.....

To do one's best and learn the rules,

Are recommended as their token tools.

All is relative when a job is won,

It helps a measure of pride be sure a little hope has spun.

As the stakes grow higher and expectations rise,

If my price starts falling, don't be ashamed enough to lie!

Remember, not that long ago I was lost and searching,

From your glaring eyes! When all is said and done, believe!

MELLIFLUOUS.

We have one thing in common at this present time,

It's a place where we breed our will to live.

Do you know the reason, is it easy to sense?

If you've been moved then believe in that choice

With no regrets!

Else place a bet, a darker side may then possess.

Well now they've turned up the light,

So what was dark now seems bright!

A sign declaring; 'it's the time of our lives'.

Temptation's bemused by escalating revelations,

As this simply sparks a quicker demise!

There is subtlety and elegance,

But their grace don't seem to matter at all.

As our sacred code once more explodes!

Reinforcing what kept happening before.

And it's still going on.....and on!

"How many whys does it take to be wise?"

Came a voice from across infinity's bow.

No! Don't be too long as to what's right or wrong,

They could be saying; "How were we supposed to know?"

'Give peace a chance', bore the seventies out

But did they specify a time or a place?

For there is proof here now, externally,

That is for those who've been running their race!

Can you feel its progressing pace? More speed. Even more haste!

As logic-control becomes the new bought and sold,

Will they ever find the heart to save?

Some fresh ideas can halt those travesty tears,

Inspiring great hope to stay.

It's time for a view on what is termed as brand-new;

Tell me, where can one find this mark?

For quality I live my life, not to watch some merely label its parts!

Where are we going? Where have we gone? What have we done?

MOONSHINE.

Moonshine;

Far from the sun cruising at speed, its job is done,

To rescue a world that's gorging on greed.....

Pierced in the night, our shining light,

Patrolling the sky, have you ever thought why?

As we get older do you find father time's spinning faster?

It's an illusion or a matter of fusion?

Not all is what it seems to be, nature's constant mysteries.

We think we know and then we find,

An opposite will change our minds; and it'll go round again.

Gravity can work both ways push-pulling on our energies.

Forcing us down to earth, keep holding on for all it's worth.

Speeding up out of time,

Slowly drifts the moonshine, stretching the boundary line.

Watch the world go, spinning blind.

Take our word; the Moonshine, it's evaporating.

It's not absurd; without the moonshine there's no levitating.

Inevitable magnetic power when in decline will move away.

Our foundation, the rock of angels that held us certain needs to stray.

Irresistible things have charisma, drawn in by the pull of their charm.

This is no longer happening now lunacy filters through calm.

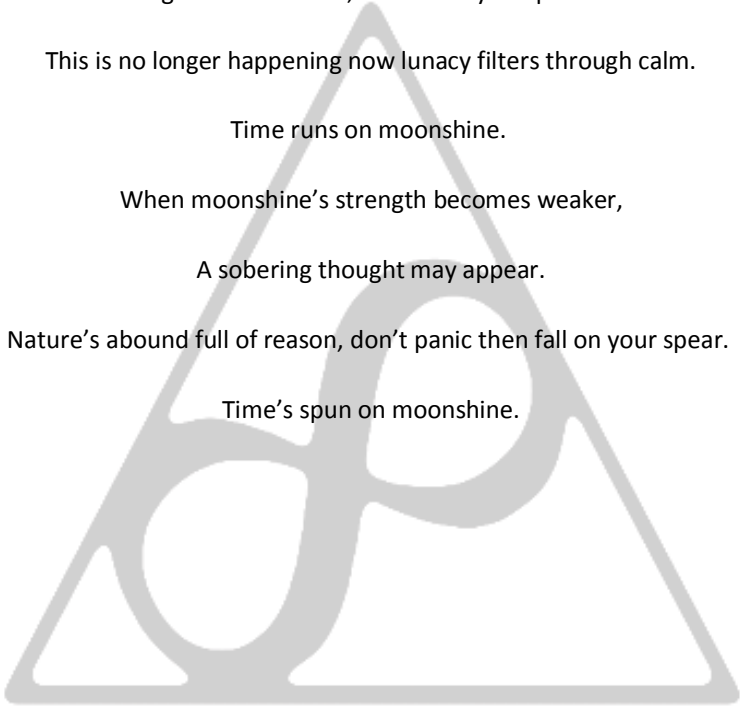

Time runs on moonshine.

When moonshine's strength becomes weaker,

A sobering thought may appear.

Nature's abound full of reason, don't panic then fall on your spear.

Time's spun on moonshine.

NEVER LEAVE ME (alone).

As and when we decline they say that all is well.

With words that aren't real lie missionaries from hell.

Sad reminders everyday watch our world make its way

To the point of no return!

You kidnapped my soul but you spared this body.

If anybody out there finds me never leave me alone?!

Well we work to pay for a life worth living.

'It's so sad'; I hear the cave clan yell!

Pressure! Pushing down upon us.

Now it's time to wake up to the fact, this life is not our own, no!

So I put it to you know; there's a time and a place for everything.

Well for how long is that going to last!

No don't get me wrong I'll make the most of it all,

But when our thoughts sink down we need someone around,

With comforting pleasure, in love to behold;

A body that's still living in a screwed up world!

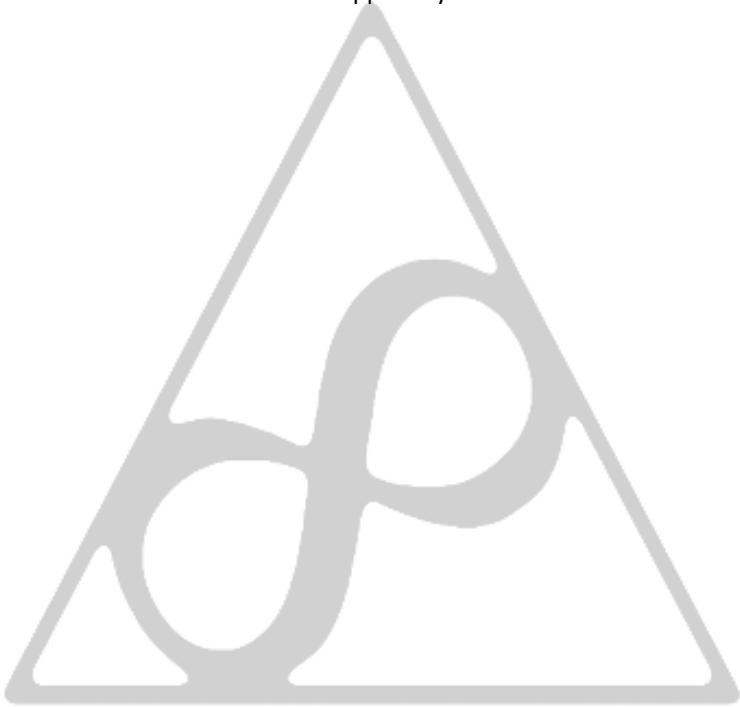

Lyrical-Eyes by C.Kin

Where everybody listens but few people care,

To question the answers as few people dare.

And that's why it was I.....?!

Who kidnapped my soul!

PEEP'OL'.

People seem to wonder.

People keep perceiving that they know; nothing's really changed.

Bright lights and fancy names modernise our elders' aims,

Yet still their one and only hope remains.

We've become the chosen ones, born to break the spell.

Try and understand their reason, yeah it may lead some too rebel.

They say they have an answer, is it what we need to know?

Time has come and gone, we might not have that long,

Where's the space for us to grow? Who can we rely to keep the faith?

I'd dearly like to relay some news to you

About a few things that I've learned but my head in fear reminds me,

There's little feeling left for them to show,

Which means it's safer for a life to live in the hope that others know:

People are the wonder of this world!

Searching for an answer; looking out from a world apart.

Is it worth your time to ponder? Well this outlaw's made a start.

QUEEN OF THE HAREM.

You take me to a place where my heart begins to race,

At the thought of being there in your arms.

Held by a spell as if falling down a well,

Plucked timely by the strength of your charms.

I cherish our moments.....

With an open mind you fail to leave behind

Someone really drifting away.

When two can play this game it's obvious your aims,

Land squarely in a dignified way.

I cherish our moments, knowing you're there.

It's not as if I can justify why,

I crave this need to discreetly pass you by,

There's nothing in my heart until you're here beside.

When there's something to declare I know I need to share,

Are there words that can express how I feel?

Touched by a madness and a guts full of sadness,

Driven closer to the void of appeal.

I cherish our moments knowing you're there believing in lovers.

All this means is a weakness for feeling denied.

So where's the right and wrong? Are my chances short or long?

Our love has stayed the distance; maybe our luck has gone.

I'll be with you in an instant.

SHED A SKIN.

Need a way to calm and get high in your prime?

Without any shit go find a beat in time.

In besiege of lights our dance begins;

Moving with the groove, loosening limbs.

Tease a partner, watch them drool.

Absorb that mood; let all rhythm fuel move you!

Shake those bones rattle the brain,

A physical release can sooth(e) many pains.

Fight for a space enjoy it while you can,

Expression fills the air; a wordless master-plan.

Close spying eyes they spoil a surprise.

Trust to chance, glide in those vibes.

Open up, tantalize! Shed a skin. Feel the spirit rise.

Dance for the sake of it, dance and so be free.

Dance until you come; back to reality.
